

European guide of good and better practices for poultry transport

WARIN Laura¹

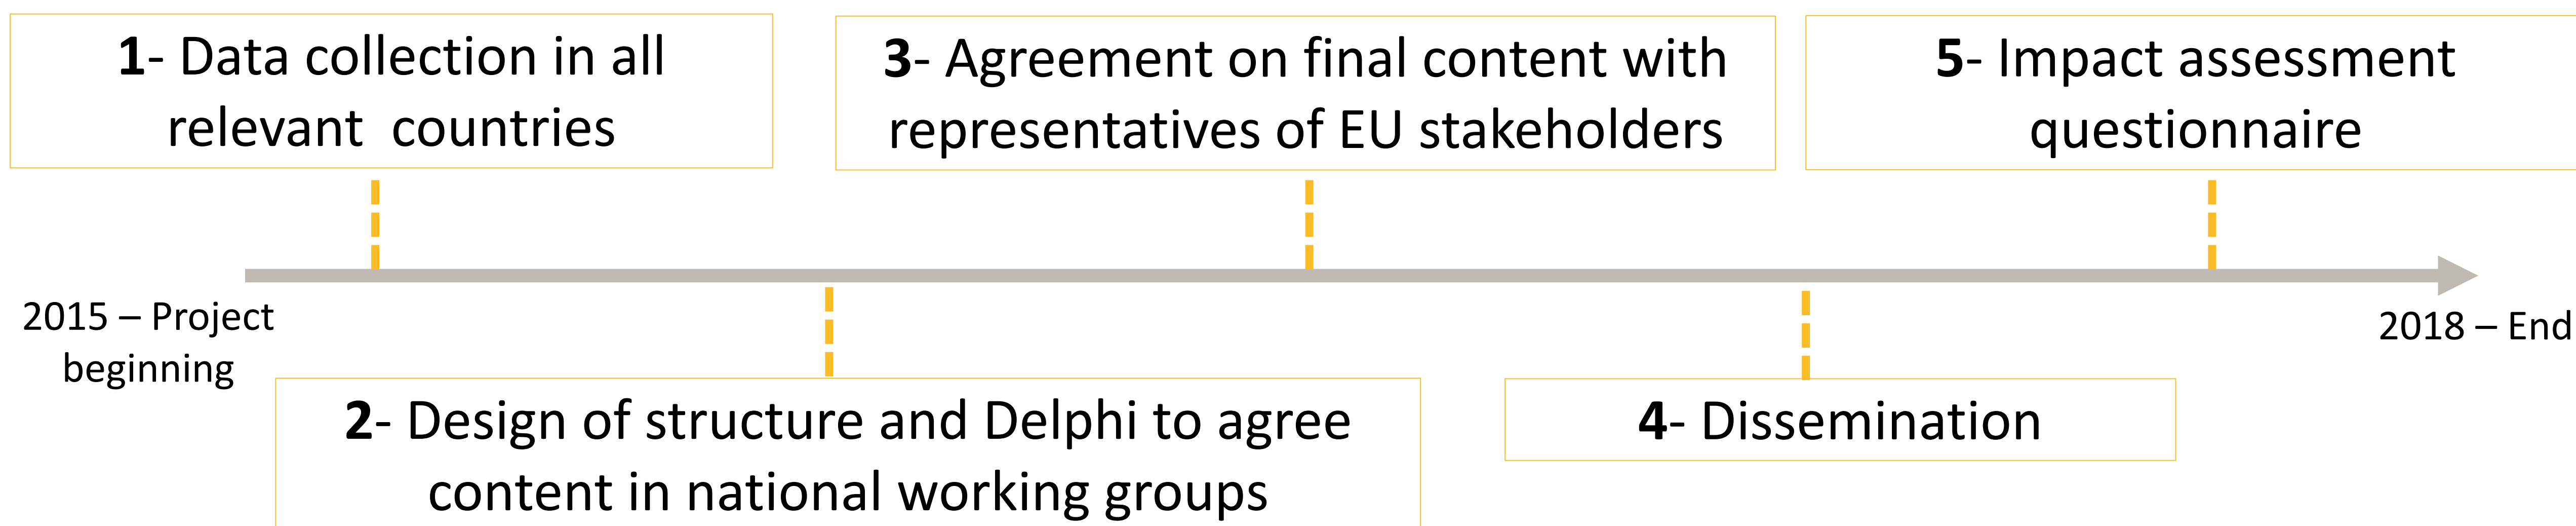

Background

Animal welfare must be addressed during live animal transport. There was a need to facilitate the understanding and practical implementation of Regulation 1/2005 on the transport of animals in Europe.

Objective

- ✓ Develop guides for good practices for all types of animal transport
- ✓ Homogenize the implementation of Regulation 1/2005

Method

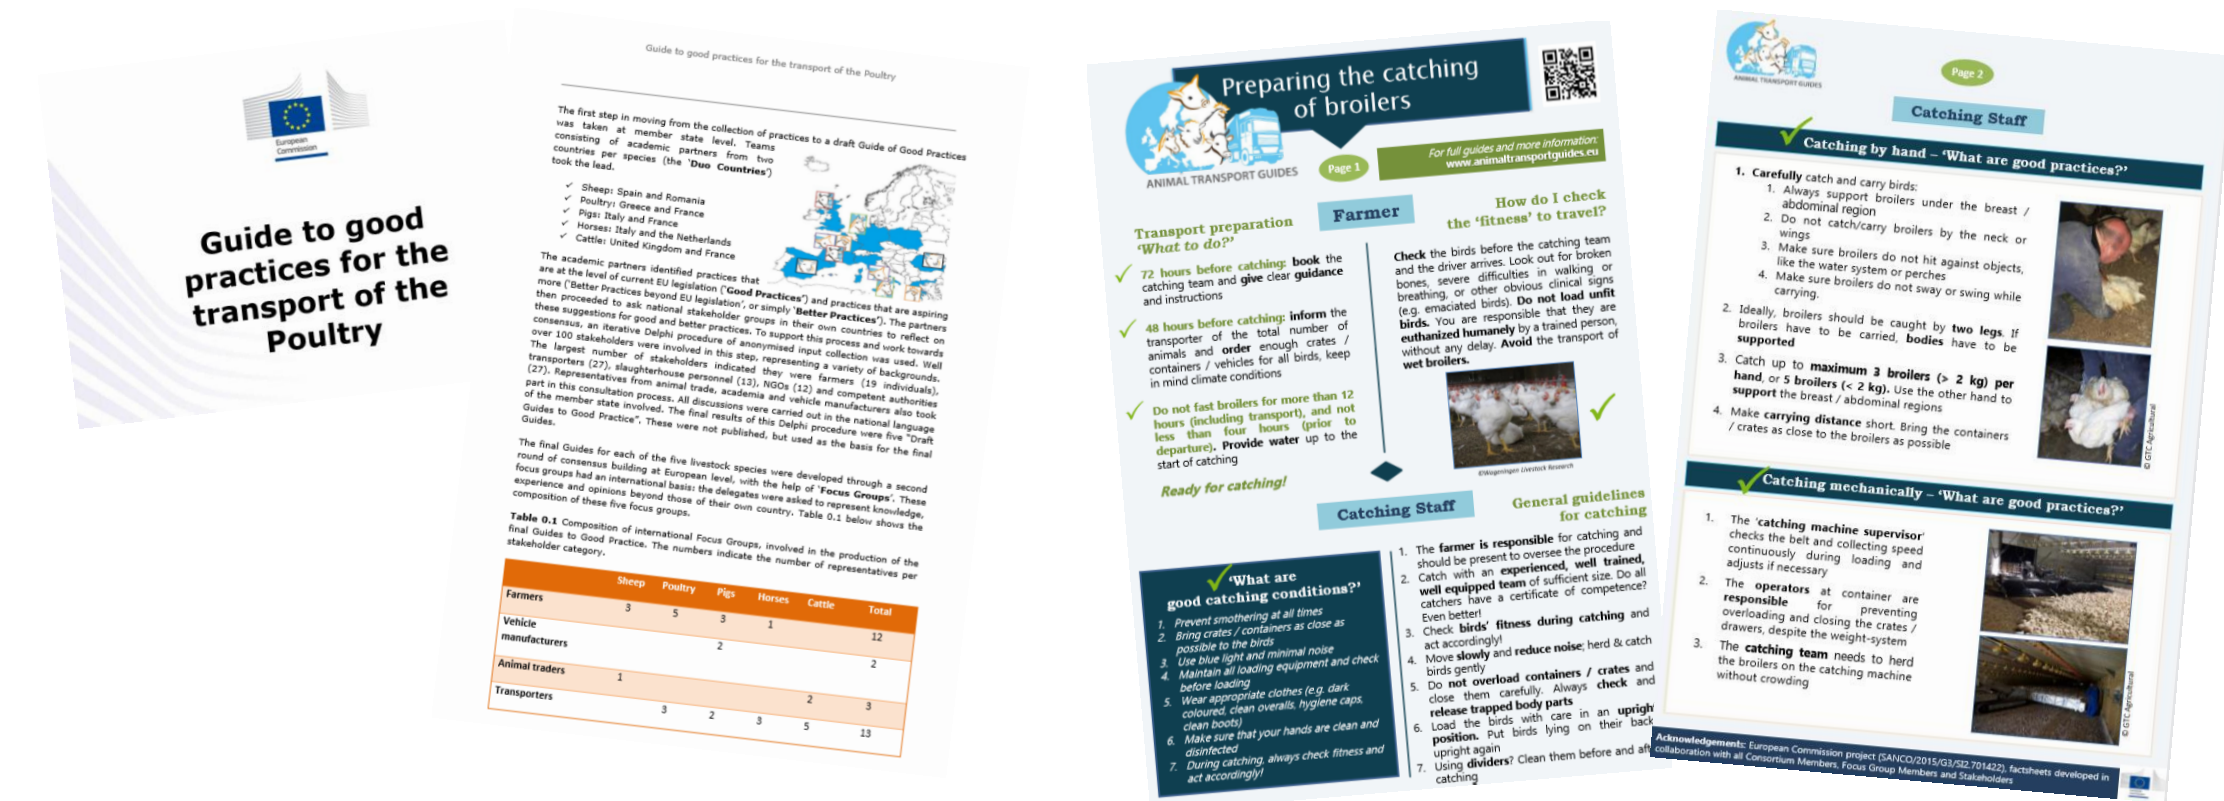

Deliverables

List of 197 practices

163 consensual practices

1 guide et 4 poultry factsheet, Available in 9 languages

1 motion design (video) to summarize the key points for poultry transportation

Good and better practices in poultry transport

! Good practices are defined as procedures and processes that ensure compliance with regulations and better practices are defined as providing additional guidance

Impact assessment – Questionnaire to final users

≈ 39 % are interested to do more and could use the new guidelines

≈ 17 % already apply more than the EU rules, but are interested to learn about other practices

➔ These results indicate a positive impact of this work and a good implementation of these guides

Conclusion

These materials will support the industry in improving their practices and are widely disseminated. The results of this work will be more largely disseminated in Europe through the European Commission.
